APNA programs for Nurses

APNA Transition to Practice Program (TPP)

Trying to find your feet in primary health care or want to try your hand at mentoring nurses new to primary health care?

This program will help you grow your skills, knowledge and confidence and set you up in your career. The 12-month program will support the transitioning nurse through tailored CPD, mentorship and support in primary health care settings such as (but not limited to) general practice, Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander health care and community health.

Applications are now open.

For more information and to apply, please visit https://bit.ly/2Ndkq5k

Building Nurse Capacity project

Are you looking to take the next step in your career? Want to learn new skills and knowledge so you can deliver a new model of care?

The Building Nurse Capacity Project will focus on the development of nurse-led (team-based) models of care that meet local population health needs, and contribute to building the capacity of the healthcare team. Grant funding and APNA support will be provided to successful applicants. It will help you promote close collaboration between nurses and health practitioners, as well as the primary health care sector, health leaders, organisations and consumers, thanks to the team-based care approach.

Applications are now open.

Accreditation tip – After hours care arrangements

RACGP Standards for general practices 5th ed (GP1.3)

Ensuring that patients of your practice can access care outside your normal practice hours is vital to the continuity of quality clinical care. While fewer GPs, particularly in metropolitan areas, choose to provide after-hours care to their patients themselves, it is imperative that you have in place a method for your patients to access care when your practice is closed. Importance should also be placed on the direct and continuing relationship between your practice’s GPs, and the after-hours care provider.

There is a variety of ways in which after-hours care might be provided to your patients. For many practices, access to medical debupising services offers an alternative to providing your own after-hours care. Where a medical deputising service (MDS) is used for after-hours care of your patients, it is strongly recommended that a formal agreement be established between your practice and the MDS. This agreement should ensure patient consultation information is returned to your practice in a timely manner, and that both parties are aware of how to contact each other in the event of a patient care emergency.

Alternatively, your practice may be able to provide its own after-hours care. Sometimes a practice will have GPs that are willing to provide after-hours care to all patients of the practice, or they may create a roster amongst local GPs or practices to share care. It is acknowledged that for some practices, the only after-hours care available may be the local hospital: if this applies to your practice, it is still recommended that, where possible, a formal agreement be established with the hospital.

To meet the Standards, practices must ensure that staff are able to explain to patients what the practice’s after-hours care arrangements are, and this knowledge will be assessed by surveyors during staff interviews at the survey visit. In addition, it is recommended that you display information in the waiting room, on your website and/or practice information sheet, and in a place visible from outside the closed practice, directing patients to your after-hours care provider. Remember that, by providing this information to patients, they are more likely to contact an after-hours care provider that delivers care in accordance with your principles, and who will ensure the consultation information is returned to you for inclusion in the patient’s health record. A recorded message on your practice’s telephone could also provide the contact details.

Where care has been provided to a patient in the after-hours, details of this care must be included in the patient’s health record and, during the review of medical records at the time of the survey visit, surveyors will look for evidence of care delivered in the after-hours.

Immunisation update

Reminder for access to free catch-up National Immunisation Program-funded vaccines

Catch-up immunisations aim to provide optimal protection against disease as quickly as possible by completing the vaccinations recommended for a person. Immunisation providers actively review a patient’s vaccination history and give the appropriate catch-up vaccines.

If a person has not received all the vaccines in the National Immunisation Program (NIP) Schedule appropriate for their age, plan and document a catch-up schedule.

People up to 19 years of age, and refugees and other humanitarian entrants of any age, can get NIP Schedule vaccines for free, if they did not receive the vaccines in childhood.

For further advice on free catch-up immunisations, please visit https://bit.ly/2QtxgOF

WA Immunisation Schedule updated

The WA Immunisation schedule has been updated to include varicella as a catch-up vaccine.

New resources to address common questions about vaccination

Australia has one of the world’s most comprehensive national immunisation programs, with over 94% of Australian children aged 5 years fully immunised. Even though the vast majority of children are fully immunised, parents may still have questions about vaccination and want to know more about it.

Two new immunisation resources are now available to help parents better understand immunisation and to answer key questions about vaccination.

The Questions about vaccination booklet provides answers to many common questions about vaccination. It is designed to help:

- parents find out more about vaccines and the most recent evidence about their safety and effectiveness.
- vaccination providers answer questions from their patients.

Copies of the booklet will be distributed to GPs shortly. You can download an electronic copy or order hard copies by visiting https://bit.ly/2Rr6ise

The Australian Academy of Science has also developed a series of multimedia products to support their Science of Immunisation: Questions and Answers publication. These materials address key questions such as:

- What is immunisation?
- What’s in a vaccine?
- Who benefits from vaccination?
- How safe are vaccines (and how do we know)?
- What’s the future of vaccination?

My Health Record update

Uploading an Advance Care Plan

Advanced Care Plans provide the opportunity for patients to express their wishes for future medical treatment and care. It’s important they document and share them, so that their doctor and family know their wishes should a time come where they are no longer able to make those decisions, or aren’t able to communicate them.

In Western Australia, the advanced care plan is officially called an Advance Health Directive and it is a formal document recognised by law. It only comes into effect if the patient is unable to make their own decisions. The Advance Health Directive allows the patient to refuse or withdraw medical treatment and consent to commencement of treatments. To be legally binding, the Advance Health Directive should be signed by a witness authorised by law to take declarations.

You download the advance care planning forms for your patient by visiting https://bit.ly/2Ogklyy

A factsheet from Advanced Care Planning Australia can be downloaded by visiting https://bit.ly/2RpMyFq

Patients can share this information in their My Health Record where it will be available to healthcare providers at the time and place it is needed. Only patients and their nominated representatives can upload an advanced care plan to their My Health Record. GPs cannot currently do this for the patient.

You can download the My Health Record advanced care planning factsheet by visiting https://bit.ly/2zRdKpP or find more information on the My Health Record website by visiting https://bit.ly/2qKH9wb
NPS MedicineWise update

New topic: Low back pain - taking action

NPS MedicineWise are now taking bookings for their new topic Low Back Pain

This educational visiting program has been designed to help GPs confidently distinguish between non-specific low back pain and more serious forms that require further investigation and management. It explores the importance of staying active and provides resources to help GPs manage patient expectations about imaging.

Educational Visits are available to be delivered

One-on-one: 30-minute in-practice discussion for GPs, tailored to individual learning needs. We also offer virtual visits delivered by teleconference, so that GPs who find it difficult to schedule an in-practice visit can still benefit from our visiting program. Virtual Visits can be scheduled at a mutually convenient time – be that before, during or after work hours. Doctors who book a Virtual Visit can nominate their preferred videoconferencing technology e.g. Skype, Scopia, FaceTime, etc.

Small-group: a 1-hour in-practice discussion for up to 10 health professionals (GPs, pharmacists and nurses).

NPS MedicineWise Educational Visits are accredited for:

- 2 Category 2 RACGP QI&CPD points
- 1 Core point in the ACRRM PD Program

They are also recognised as counting towards the Practice Incentives Program’s Quality Prescribing Incentive (PIP QPI).

To book an NPS MedicineWise Educational Visit, contact Nicole Humphry.

Changes to Legislation: Improved Medicare Compliance

On 1 July 2018, the Health Legislation Amendment (Improved Medicare Compliance and Other Measures) Bill 2018 came into effect. Key changes introduced by this bill are:

- Record Keeping
- Notice to Produce
- Debt Recovery
- Administrative Penalties
- Shared Debt Recovery Scheme

Given the significance of some of these changes, we highly recommend you either read the overview by visiting https://bit.ly/2Qs7ytU, or read the Bill in its entirety at https://bit.ly/2PafShE.
Alternative urgent medical pathways: GP input required

Armadale Hospital is seeking the input of local GPs to help co-design a rapid access medical clinic for patients needing urgent specialist advice or review. If you are interested in shaping this service so it meets the needs of your patient, please join Armadale Hospital and WAPHA at a special GP Focus Group on Tuesday 23 October 2018 from 6 - 8pm. New resources from the Alcohol & Other Drugs Knowledge Centre

The Alcohol and Other Drugs Knowledge Centre have added a suite of online resources which are now available on the website. Based on the Review of harmful alcohol use among Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, there are three new resources available:

- an animated infographic
- a HealthInfoByte
- an eBook

The animated infographic provides an audio visual snapshot of key information found in the review, in an engaging format, while the eBook is an interactive, online version of the review with additional, enhanced features such as embedded videos and illustrations. The HealthInfoByte is part of a series which promotes HealthInfoNet reviews and provides short, ‘byte’ sized information.

Determining what factors influence an individual’s career choices will help to guide all those involved in the journey of training junior doctors.

With better insights, we can support junior doctors to be well-informed and supported in making their speciality career choices. PMCWA, AMA WA and WAGPET are conducting a short, personalised interview process to gather this information. This study received ethics approval from the Curtin University Ethics Committee.

The involvement of as many junior doctors as possible in the process will greatly improve the quality of the data and influence future discussions that will ultimately benefit current and future generations of junior doctors.

Obesity Collaborative Summit – 17 October

Health Networks is hosting the Obesity Collaborative Summit to bring people together to build an Action Plan for WA Health focusing on the early intervention and management of overweight and obesity over the next 3 to 5 years. If you have an interest in helping us tackle this critical issue and are a health professional in public or community services; work in health planning, policy, or commissioning; or related health, community, and social areas then come along and help us build a healthier WA.

The Hon. Roger Cook MLA, Minister for Health, will deliver the keynote address and bring his enthusiasm and passion for this topic to set the scene for an energising discussion about the future of WA.

You can either attend our face-to-face Obesity Collaborative Summit or join one of the online workshops to share your thoughts on how we can work together to create a better weight management experience for Western Australians.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month – October

October, Australia’s Breast Cancer Awareness Month, provides an opportunity for us all to focus on breast cancer and its impact on those affected by the disease in our community.

Breast cancer remains the most common cancer among Australian women (excluding non-melanoma skin cancer). Survival rates continue to improve in Australia with 89 out of every 100 women diagnosed with invasive breast cancer now surviving five or more years beyond diagnosis.

Two exciting upcoming BreastScreen WA events, as part of Australia’s Breast Cancer Awareness month in October, are the Pink Ribbon Breakfast at Fraser’s on Monday 24 October, with the guest speaker being Sabrina Hahn, gardener extraordinaire, and Picnic in the Park, a gathering of Aboriginal women in Kings Park on Tuesday 25 October.

WA Mental Health Week – 7 to 14 October

“Mental health starts where we live, learn, work and play.”

This year, the theme of WA Mental Health Week is all about community and the various settings we go to every day where we can support the wellbeing of others.

Mental Health Week / Day / Month is celebrated all around Australia, with each state adopting their own theme and holding their own events each year.

Mental Health Week is run in WA by the Western Australian Association for Mental Health (WAAMH), supported by the Government of Western Australia, Mental Health Commission and Lotterywest.

WAAMH is proudly part of Australia’s mental health promotion group which plan awareness campaigns around World Mental Health Day.

National Cervical Cancer Awareness Week – 12 to 18 November

The WA Cervical Cancer Prevention Program (WACCPP) is inviting all practices to register an activity in support of National Cervical Cancer Awareness Week (12-18 November 2018).

Activity ideas may include an information display, a presentation about cervical screening, a cervical screening clinic or promotion of cervical screening on stakeholder social media sites.

To support an activity, stakeholders can access a range of free resources from the WACCPP, including print resources, promotional tools, activities and display materials.

To register an activity, please download the registration form by visiting https://bit.ly/2NZUrT9

For more information please contact the WACCPP on 13 15 56 or cervicalscreening@health.wa.gov.au, or to view the flyer, please visit https://bit.ly/2xtGVOm

World COPD Day – 21 November

World COPD Day is an annual global initiative run by the Global Initiative for Chronic Obstructive Lung Disease (GOLD) to raise awareness about Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) and improve COPD care throughout the world.

In 2018, Lung Foundation Australia’s World COPD Day campaign ‘don’t let shortness of breath stop you from living your dreams’ is focused on raising awareness of COPD symptoms, and empowering people with COPD to take control of their condition. Whilst there are many medicines available to treat COPD symptoms, there are also a number of lifestyle habits which can dramatically improve symptoms, and even slow disease progression.
