Look at me, I am 3!

Turning 3 is the start of a busy and exciting stage in your child's development.

Every day, your child is learning new skills that will help them prepare for starting school.

Although every child grows and develops at their own pace, some children will need extra support.

This could be your Community Health Nurse, the Child Development Service or your family doctor.

We've developed this short video to show the developmental milestones a 3 year old child should be meeting.

Scan the QR code to view the video and for details of available support.

Together, we are here to support you and your child.
