

WAPHA GP LEARNING

GP Telehealth Networking Event

Join us for a relaxed panel discussion and networking event focused on the use of telehealth in primary care from different perspectives.

Using telehealth can significantly improve GP workload by streamlining workflows, improving efficiency and providing faster, more convenient patient care.

Offering telehealth services at your practice, in conjunction with standard face-to-face consults, expands primary care opportunities for you and your patients.

WA Primary Health Alliance is currently providing support to GPs who are interested in using telehealth within their practice or within a residential aged care home.

This follows the recent roll out of telehealth medical carts to 180 residential aged care homes in WA to improve service access for residents. The evening will include a demonstration of the telehealth medical carts.
