Overview

This event offers healthcare professionals in general practice a unique opportunity to tour the Cancer Centre facilities at Fiona Stanley Hospital (FSH) and gain firsthand insights into their patients' cancer treatment experience. This can help bridge the gap between general practice and oncology. Attendees will also hear from Dr. Wei-Sen Lam, Head of Service for Medical Oncology, who will provide valuable insights into the patient experience from the oncology team's perspective and offer practical advice on how general practice can further support the optimal care of their patients affected by cancer.
